What is DECLARE?

A screenshot of the DECLARE website interface. The browser address bar shows "https://webgate.europa.eu/declare". The page has a blue header with the European Commission logo and the text "ENVIRONMENT DECLARE". The main content area is white and contains a "Welcome to DECLARE" section. Below this, there are three boxes, each with a title and a description of a policy domain: "ALURES - Animals used for scientific purposes", "ETS - The EU Emissions Trading System", and "NAGOYA - Protocol on Access and Benefit Sharing".

DECLARE

Welcome to DECLARE

DECLARE is the entry point of the Environment Data Submission Portal, supporting collection, validation, analysis, and dissemination of the statistical information submitted per domain.

Please choose a policy domain to work on:

ALURES - Animals used for scientific purposes

Since 1986, the EU has had in place specific legislation covering the use of animals for scientific purposes. On 22 September 2010 the EU adopted Directive 2010/63/EU which updates and replaces the 1986 Directive 86/609/EEC on the protection of animals used for scientific purposes. The aim of the new Directive is to strengthen legislation, and improve the welfare of those animals still needed to be used, as well as to firmly anchor the principle of the Three Rs, to Replace, Reduce and Refine the use of animals, in EU legislation. Directive 2010/63/EU took full effect on 1 January 2013.

ETS - The EU Emissions Trading System

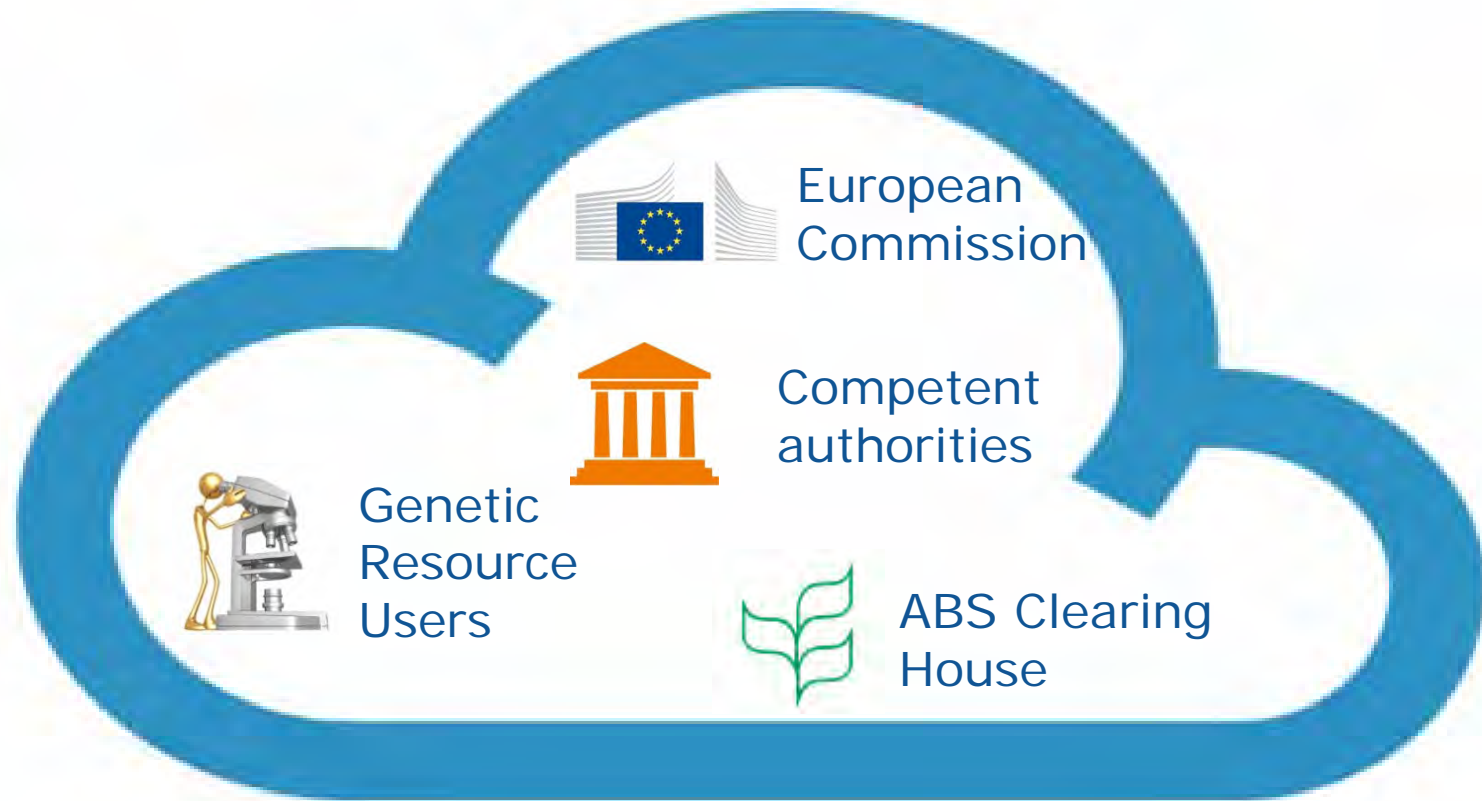

The EU emissions trading system (EU ETS) is a cornerstone of the European Union's policy to combat climate change and its key tool for reducing industrial greenhouse gas emissions cost-effectively. The first - and still by far the biggest - international system for trading greenhouse gas emission allowances, the EU ETS covers more than 11,000 power stations and industrial plants in 31 countries, as well as airlines.

NAGOYA - Protocol on Access and Benefit Sharing

The European Union is a Party to the United Nations Convention on Biological Diversity (CBD) of 1992, which seeks to ensure the conservation and sustainable use of the diversity of species, habitats and ecosystems on the planet, as well as the fair and equitable sharing of the benefits arising from the use of genetic resources. In 2000, Parties to the CBD adopted the Cartagena Protocol on Biosafety which seeks to protect biological diversity from the potential risks posed by living modified organisms, taking into account human health. The EU has adopted a series of legislative measures in order to implement this Protocol. In 2010, CBD Parties also adopted a new Protocol, the Nagoya Protocol on Access to Genetic Resources and the Fair and Equitable Sharing of Benefits Arising from Their Utilization.

The screenshot shows a web browser window with the address bar containing "https://webgate.europa.eu/declare". The page header includes the European Commission logo and the text "ENVIRONMENT DECLARE". The main content area is titled "Part A – Information to be transmitted to the ABS Clearing House pursuant to Article 7(3) of Regulation (EU) No 511/2014". It contains several paragraphs of text, including instructions on confidentiality and a declaration section. The declaration section asks the user to indicate the purpose of the declaration (Genetic resources or Traditional knowledge associated with genetic resources) and to provide the subject matter of the research or identification code of the grant. There is a large empty text box for the subject matter and a checkbox for "Confidential".

Part A – Information to be transmitted to the ABS Clearing House pursuant to Article 7(3) of Regulation (EU) No 511/2014

If the information provided is confidential within the meaning of Article 7(5) of Regulation (EU) No 511/2014, please provide it nonetheless, tick the respective box and provide the justification for confidentiality.

If you marked as confidential essential information (such as about the genetic resources or traditional knowledge associated with genetic resources, access place, form of utilisation), without which the record would not be published on the website of the ABS Clearing House, this information will not be shared with the ABS Clearing House, but it may be passed on directly to the competent authorities of the provider country.

At least one declaration is required per grant received.

I am making this declaration for the utilisation of: *
